A judgment, based upon a verdict in favor of Keef, was rendered in the circuit court, and an affirmance was the result of the appeal to the court of civil appeals. Sanford has petitioned this court for a review and reversal; and the cause was set down for oral argument at the bar of this court on points designated by us. Sanford owned a plantation in the State of Arkansas, and contracted with the Gullett Gin Company for the purchase of a cotton gin. The terms of this contract shed much light upon the litigation. Under the contract the title to the gin passed to Sanford on delivery thereof f. o. b. cars of the common carrier for shipment to him. By one of the clauses it was provided: Services of Erector. --It is hereby expressly understood that if the Gullett Gin Company furnishes a man to superintend the erection of the above machinery, or should the undersigned need the services of a man from the factory for any purpose, the undersigned agrees to pay to the said Gullett Gin Company the sum of 5 per day for the time put in by such man while at work on the job, and in addition thereto the sum of 5 per day for his time while traveling to and from my place, and the actual cost of his railroad fare, and other expenses en route to and from my place. The undersigned also agrees to...
